Among the features will be the Pan-American Marimba band, the Swarthmore trio, Chamber Music Concert, Louise Stallings, the American lyric mezzo soprano, the Marchetti Swiss Yodlers, the Vivian Players of New York in a Shakesperian role, "As You Like It," the Oceanic Ladies' quintet; lecturers, Frank Tannebaum, George P. Bible, O. H. Benson, William Sterling Battis.

A Chautauqua is a boom to the people of a community, in that it affordst them an opportunity to hear the best in vocal and instrumental music and lecturers at a nominal price. It pays to buy a season ticket, for after you attend one attraction, you will want to attend them all.

CHILD STEPS OUT IN FRONT OF CAR, STATED

Laura Guidic, 6 years of age, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Guidic, was instantly killed at 12:45 o'clock today when struck and knocked over an embankment by an Oakland roadster driven by Mike Cinereski of Donora, on the Rostraver road, near Monessen.

Cinereski and his brother were driving towards the Grand View cemetery at a fair rate of speed, according to witnesses, and the car struck the little girl as she stepped out from behind a wagon parked on the road. The force of the collision knocked the child over a small embankment. The driver brought his car to a standstill and going to the side of the girl, found her to be fatally injured.

A physician was called to the scene of the accident, and pronounced the girl dead. She sustained a fractured skull, slashed throat and her body is a mass of cuts and bruises. Monessen authorities are holding the driver at the Monessen jail. The accident occurred a few yards from the Guidic home.

A Jury Says The Deaths Are Accidents

Inquests into the deaths of John A. Smith and Fernand Bastian, with Coroner William Greenlee officiating, were held in the offices of Deputy Coroner Michael T. Crowley last auto accident, and Mr. Bastian, who lived at Stockdale, was electrocuted when he touched a live wire. The jury rendered a verdict in both cases that the passing of the men was accidental. The jury was composed of George Nelan, Henry Wagner, Henry Hanger, Ben [illegible] Wilson and Anthony Murphy.

Mr. Smith was riding with his niece, Miss Violet Abel of North Charleroi, on the afternoon of July 1, when the car got into a ditch between here and Speers and struck a telephone pole before the young lady could get it back into the highway. Mr. Smith died from the injuries which he received in the car.

Fernand Bastian, an employe of the Vesta No. 6 coal mine, was on his way to his home in Stockdale following the terrible storm of Saturday, June 28, when he saw a broken

HANIHARA LEAVES HERE PESSIMISTIC

Says More Satisfactory Disposition of the Japanese Immigration Question Must Be Arranged, If Trouble Is to Be Avoided

HE IS STILL AMBASSADOR

Officially Stated That Hanihara Has Not Resigned, And That He Is Leaving Washington Today, Returning to Japan, On Leave

Washington, July 11.— Leaving Washington today, Masanao Hanihara, retiring Japanese ambassador here, returns to his country convinced that a more satisfactory disposition of the Japanese immigration question must be arranged if trouble is to be avoided between the two countries.

Hanihara is not making any statement for publication, but the seriousness with which the Japanese people regard the new American exclusion law is shown by the fact that the ambassador is understood to believe that although the outward anti-American demonstrations in his country will soon end such a feeling on the part of the Japanese will continue under the surface.

Hanihara leaves Washington later today. He goes direct to San Francisco where he will sail for Japan on board the Corea, July 18. Officially it is stated that Hanihara has not yet resigned as ambassador and that he is returning to Japan on leave.

Washington Avenue Folk Hold Annual Picnic At Oakland Park

The annual picnic of the Washington Avenue Presbyterian Sunday school was held yesterday at Oakland Park. The largest crowd in years was present to enjoy the games and eats. Two cars had been chartered to take the picnickers to the grounds. The first left at 1 o'clock, and the second at 2. Both were filled to capacity with a happy crowd of boys and girls, and men and women. Besides these there were many who went in automobiles. The day was ideal and everyone from the baby in arms to grandfather and grandmother was in the best of humor and did all they could to make everybody happy. At 3:30, Arch Osborne, the chairman of the sports committee, called the crowd together on the athletic grounds to put them through the different stunts that had been arranged by the committee. There was a large number of contestants in all events, and some races were so close that it took two or three heats before a decision could be rendered.

A most bountiful picnic dinner was served on the many tables in the grove. The tables fairly "groaned" before the eaters began and the diners "groaned" afterwards. The women maintained their enviable reputation as culinary artists and all felt the dinner was the best ever.

The following is a list of the field events with the winners:

SECRETARY HUGHES PREPARES TO SAIL FOR EUROPE

Washington, July 11.—Secretary of State Hughes today cleared his desk in the state department preparatory to sailing tomorrow for Europe.

Hughes sails on the Berengaria to attend the meeting of the Bar association in London. While there it is understood he will stay at the American embassy. Also he will keep in touch with Ambassador Kellogg, American envoy, on the allied conference called to put the Dawes report in operation, which begins in London July 16. Kellogg will represent the United States at the conference.

Strictly speaking Hughes is on a vacation but diplomatic quarters here believe his European trip may prove of prime political importance. In addition to London Hughes may visit Paris and Berlin. The secretary absolutely refuses to make any comment regarding his trip, however, describing it as "a vacation."

ONE KILLED AND THREE HURT IN A BRIDGE FIRE

Norristown, Pa., July 11.—Bridgeton and Norristown, two sister boroughs, today were without communicable travel following a fire last night which destroyed the old Ford Bridge, the only span across the Schuylkill connecting the two towns.

One fireman was killed and three others were badly injured while fighting the flames. John Lobb, Jr., was killed when a heavy girder fell, striking him on the head.

The injured were Thomas Evans, Lewis Diel and Frank Moyer. Evans was hurt by falling debris while Diel and Moyer were burned.

The fire started in the center of the bridge and in a short time the entire span was in a mass of flames. In less than an hour the structure crumbled and toppled into the river.

Cause of the fire is as yet undetermined.

WE'VE WARNED YOU.

The time is not far distant when you are going to blame yourself or us because all available home-sites at LYNNWOOD are SOLD. Such property as LYNNWOOD, with its planned and assured development offers investment opportunity that is seldom indeed presented to the general public. Men and women of vision are not waiting to "see what happens." We've warned you often — do not blame us if you wait and lose out. You can still get in on the ground floor and buy from the developers of LYNNWOOD at rock bottom prices, or you can wait until this wonderful property is developed and buy from speculators at greatly increased prices. County And Donora Officers Make Raid In Donora Borough

Chief of Police M. E. Ready, Officer Frank Sample and County Detectives Dinsmore and Laird yesterday afternoon conducted a raid on the residence and store of Nick Calagas of Donora, as a result of which Calagas was placed under arrest charged with violating liquor laws, and a supply of moonshine was seized.

For some time the minions have suspicioned that the accused has been conducting a speakeasy, but it has been difficult to serve evidence necessary to convict. His place has been previously raided by both county and national prohibition officers, and he has paid fines for the offense. It was deemed time time for the raid and the officers of the law swooped down on the place and secured a five-gallon jug of the alleged moonshine. Following the find, Calagas was placed under arrest.

The defendant was haled before Justice Charles Ford, and upon his plea of guilty, he was held for the grand jury at the next term of court, he furnishing bail in the sum of $1,000, and was released.

MUCH SMOKE; LITTLE OR NO FIRE AT GALLINO'S

Smoke seen issuing from the door and windows of the home of Vento Gallino, at the corner of Eleventh street and Lincoln avenue, caused a passerby to send in an alarm, and the Charleroi Fire department at 9:30 this morning, responded immediately, only to find that the house was filled with smoke due to the fact that something had been left cooking on the stove and had burned to a crisp.

Gallino conducts a small store near his residence, and no one was in the house at the time. No damage was done, other than to fill the house full of smoke.

FAREWELL PARTY GIVEN REV. WILSON

Rev. H. H. Wilson, pastor of the First Baptist church, and wife, who are leaving Charleroi to make East Brady, Pa., their future home, were highly honored last night when they were accorded a farewell party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Chews, of North Charleroi, over one hundred of their friends being present.

The lawn was prettily decorated, a square being formed by the use of Japanese Lanterns. Rev. Dr. E. H. Greenlee and wife, and Rev. R. J. Shields, were present. Rev. Shields spoke of the uplift work done by Rev. Wilson here in Charleroi. Rev. Greenlee responded, and spoke of the fearless, undaunted manner, unthoughtful of himself, Rev. Wilson worked while in this community. Never has a minister been in a community so short a period who will be missed more. Rev. Wilson, by request, spoke in his own behalf. He compared his leaving to a scripture reading, where Christ told him to go on, although he liked his followers and friends, Christ tells him to move on undaunted. Mrs. Emma Dawson spoke of his work, which would always mean to those here left behind to shoulder their burden and follow on in the light which leads to redemption. Mrs. Parks and Mrs. Bickerton also responded. Rev. Rawlins and wife of Donora entertained with two duets.

The parting was pathetic, as Rev. Wilson and wife bade each and all goodbye. Mrs. Wilson was called upon and gave a heart inspiring talk, which will never be forgotten.

Luncheon was served at a late hour by the hostesses.

GOODROADSMEETING HELD AT PROSPERITY

An enthusiastic community good roads meeting to boost the completion of the state secondary road from Prosperity to the Greene county line at Dunn's Station, was held last night in the upper Ten Mile Presbyterian church.

The meeting was called to order by W. E. Curry, who presented Rev. Dr. Joseph W. Dunbar, president of the Institute of Practical Arts at Old Concord, who presided. After a prayer by Rev. Martin Koehn, pastor of the Old Concord Presbyterian church, addresses were made by General Edward Martin and Dr. C. L. McKee, of Washington; Dr. W. D. Martin of Sparta; Rev. D. George Davidson, of Prosperity; Clarence Bristor of Dunn's Station, and Rev. J. C. French, of Prosperity.

It was pointed out in many of the addresses that since this highway had been approved by the state as Route 109 and that the survey had been completed the time had now arrived for action toward its early completion. The road is improved from Washington to beyond Prosperity and only a small stretch remains to be improved to give outlet to a large community, not only to the county seat, but to the Waynesburg and Washington railroad as well. All present were enthusiastically in favor of starting action at once to secure the interest of the authorities in the early completion of the road it not being necessary to sell the good roads proposition to the audience.

Concrete action towards getting the proposition under way was taken in the appointment of the following committee: F. B. Grimes, W. E. [illegible] visors of Morris township; W. [illegible] Fulton, Lincoln Dunn, J. C. Bristor, J. E. Andrew, C. C. Dunn, J. F. Longdon, Dr. W. D. Martin and Dr. J. W. Dunbar.

Music of high order was furnished during the evening by Dever's Band of Washington, which was greatly enjoyed. A hearty vote of thanks was extended the band for its services. The meeting was well attended, the church being

EFFORT IN THE MAKING TO MATCH DEMARCO AND JACK ZIVIC

Fans of this section are now anxiously waiting the announcement that Jack Zivic, foremost light weight contender, will clash with Cuddy Demarco at Forbes Field. For some reason, every fan has taken it for granted that this pair will meet this summer at the Oakland stadium.

Red Mason, manager of Demarco, has been vociferously loose with his tongue, concerning such a match, declaring he will permit Cuddy to fight Zivic if the latter will show [illegible] weight to be 135 at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

"I'll let Cuddy fight Zivic at 135 pounds provided Jack will step on the scales at ringside and show what he weighs going into the ring," Mason was heard to say. "Cuddy will also get on the scales and I'll bet that he will be 135 ringside while Zivic will be close to 140."

MEADOWS HAS AN "OFF DAY;" BEING HIT HARD

Fumbled opprtunities and failure to sidetrack a Boston slugging orgy in the third and fourth innings of yesterday's ball game at Forbes Field was responsible for a 5-3 Waterloo into which the Pirates rushed and thereby remained in fourth place, although the Dodgers risked third position by courteously dropping a double header in Chicago.

Lee Meadows had two disastrous rounds in which the Braves bunched seven of teir 11 blows and counted on all their five tallies, three being driven across in the third and a couple more in the fourth. The Bucos found Jess Barnes capable of outguessing them throughout the first seven frames. They began tormenting him with their bats in the two closing efforts, but their hopes were spilled because the wellknown punch could not be coaxed at moments when it would have proven as priceless as a billion tons of anthracite.

Walter Mueller was the only member of the home corps who succeeded in sending the ashore into unguarded sections when such a performance was certain to bring happy results. His feat was accomplished in a pinch but Barnes prevented any of the other Corsairs from distinguishing themselves in a similar manner. Walter was called upon in the eighth when two were gone, but the bases were jammed and he knocked a pair of tallies over the home rubber with a clean single. He had batted for Meadows. Emil Yde pitched the ninth and emerged without a scratch.

PRESIDENT TAKES UP HIS DUTIES

Washington, July 11—President Coolidge today took up the duties of the nation once more. He had buried his younger son, but the business of the nation must go on.

The presidential party arrived at 7:20 this morning, after an all-night trip from the mountain cemetery at Plymouth, Vermont, where Calvin Coolidge, Jr., is now at rest.

Mrs. Coolidge was very tired, her face was lined, but she bore her sorrow bravely. The president walked into the White House by her side with a slow, but firm step.

The Presieddnt soon returned to his desk, which was piled up — his son became ill.

Beauty of the Himilayas

There is a great picture of natural beauty waiting the fearless mountain climber who tramps the eight thousand feet up the side of the Himalayas in the late spring, asserts a returned traveler, who says the altitude and climate conditions cause the rhododendron to grow to abnormal size reaching the size of small trees.

The entire growth is covered with brilliant scarlet and pink blossoms, so abundant one may gaze over scores of [illegible] where growth is possible being covered by this wonderful floral display the color growing more delicate as one goes higher up the mountainside.—Ohio State Journal.

Honey From Haiti

Haitien honey is well liked by the American market. The best is made from the blossoms of the logwood tree and is known as "Campeche" honey. The superior flavor of this product is much appreciated in France, where it has always brought a higher price than in the United States. The honey is nearly white in color and possesses a delicate quality. The beekeepers allow their charges to feed upon royal palms and logwood trees, thus producing a blended and desirable yield. Objections are made that some producers gather it before it is ripe, pack it badly and sometimes let it be mixed with bees and [illegible]

Number of Languages

Living languages number about 860. This does not include the thousands of dialects and "near" languages. The difficulty in computing the number of languages in the world is to decide just exactly what is meant by the word "language." Linguists are far from being agreed as to when a form of speech ceases to be a "dialect" and becomes a language. Roughly, the 860 languages are distributed as follows: Europe, 80; Asia, 123; Africa, 14; America, 117; islands of the Pacific and Indian oceans, 417.

Monessen Comes Tomorrow; Time Of Contest Is 3:30; Beatty To Pitch

The Monessen legion team comes tomorrow, time 3:30 o'clock, for the first of a series, we are informed with the Charleroi Independents. Last year the two clubs met here, and Monessen surprised everybody by taking the Charleroi club into camp. This year Manager Mathers hopes to reverse the decision. The Charleroi team has not been going well, due to the fact that it has lacked about three players—a catcher, an outfielder, and a second baseman. The going of Schoaf left a vacancy in the backstop work of the club that has not been filled; the same can be said of Fillingham, for none has been found to fill his shoes at second base. The team has also needed an outfielder who can hit, as well as a catcher and second baseman with the punch. Beatty has pitched good ball, but has not had hitting to back him up. Mr. Mathers has a new second baseman, who, it is believed, will fill the bill, and will probably have a new catcher tomorrow, maybe a new outfielder.

Monessen, by its victory over the National Tube team of McKeesport, shows that it is even stronger than last year, and the Charleroi club will have to play better than it has in the majority of its recent contests to defeat them. The contest will probably draw a large contingent of the fans of this locality and Monessen, as the spirit of rivalry is intense.

Few Words of Cheer Beginning With "Sn"

Have you any prejudice against words beginning with the syllable "sn"? Emerson had. Mrs. Emerson once referred to a lady of her acquaintance as a snob. Her husband objected, saying: 'I do not like it. I particularly dislike all words beginning with 'sn.' Though she is a snob you might call her a person who is very charitably disposed toward success."

Noah Webster lists a considerable number of words beginning with this syllable, observes the Utica Observer-Dispatch. Only a few of the words in this category are descriptive of positive and lovely traits and things. Our primitive ancestors must have felt the way Emerson felt.

There is, for instance, man's first and scriptural enemy, the "snake." Then there is "sneak," which defines the snake in human form. Add "snoop," the petty spy and informer, and "sniper," the fighter from ambush.

And, of course, "sneer," which is the characteristic expression of the "snob"; and "snicker," a form of derisive laughter. Also "snatch," which defines an ungenerous attitude, and "snap," as indicative of the argumentative and belligerent person.

A husband is popularly believed to "snore" while asleep and to "snarl" while awake. Or, maybe he is only a "snip" who "snivels."

"Sn" seems to be a hoodoo. No wonder Emerson "snorted" over the word "snob," even though the woman it described had "snubbed" his good wife.

'Snough to make anybody sniff.

Indians Had No Horses

The Indians had dogs but not horses before the white men came. The Indian dog was little different from the famed wolf from which it is supposed to have sprung. Eskimos were using dogs for transportation when first white men arrived. Though fossils of the forerunner of the horse have been found in America, it is now generally believed that these animals became extinct many thousands of years ago and that all horses used by the Indians were descendants of Spanish horses. Cortez brought horses to Mexico and De Soto is known to have abandoned a large number of horses near the Texas border.

Church Designs Studied

Modern religious thought and new economic conditions are bringing about a demand for a change in church conditions and as a result several of the leading denominations have named a special committee to study designs best suited for small or medium-sized congregations. The object is to find the economic value, if possible, in a more liberalized church architecture.

CAUSE OF CANCER AND A CURE FOUND

Serum Is Successful as Germ Is Isolated.

Philadelphia.—The cause of cancer has been discovered, also a treatment for it, which, although still in the experimental stage, is producing remarkable results, according to the Philadelphia North American.

That this most dreaded disease is due to a microorganism has been scientifically established. The germ has been isolated and its parts as the causative factor proved by the conclusive laboratory test known as the "Koch cycle."

The discoverer is Dr. T. J. Glover, a native of Toronto, Can., thirty-six years old, and a graduate of the medical school of the University of Toronto, class of 1911. For four years he has carried on his research work in New York. The antitoxic serum he has developed apparently is effective only in the treatment of carcinoma, the commonest and most destructive form of cancer.

Tests Are Successful.

Dr. Glover first succeeded in inoculating animals with the germ he had isolated in certified specimens of cancer from human beings, and with it [illegible] all immune animals. Then, through injection of the serum, he arrested or modified its course and later immunized scores of such animals against infection.

Within the last two years this serum has been tested on more than 200 cases of cancer confirmed by pathological, X-ray and clinical histories, and in every stage of development from incipiency to hopelessness.

Nearly 100 of these had been treated in the National Stomach hospital in Philadelphia, where the most complete tests have been made and the largest number of patients observed.

In a majority of these cases there have been favorable results, and in some instances the subjects have been discharged as symptom-free, a condition the laymen would call cured.

Thus it appears from the laboratory results secured by Dr. Glover, and from the records of these cases, that this terrible malady, as old as human history and of late years increasing at such a rate as to alarm both the medical profession and the public, has at last been brought to the point of control, joining the ranks of syphillis, smallpox, typhoid fever and diphtheria.

100,000 Deaths a Year in U. S.

In view of the fact that the cancer death toll in this country alone now is figured at 100,000 a year, and that the disease is increasing at the rate of 2½ per cent annually, the meaning of this discovery is obvious.

The discovery of the cancer germ leads logically to the hope that a method soon may be found for determining the presence of the microorganism in the blood, thus making possible the detection of the disease in incipiency and its prevention.

Dr. Glover has made significant experiments along this line, with decidedly encouraging results. He has distributed a limited amount of the serum to hospitals in various parts of the country to be tested under pledge of secrecy and without charge pending the official announcement.

From these experimental clinics there have been received highly favorable reports of results which coincide with those obtained in Philadelphia over a period of 18 months.

The Journal of the American Medical association in February, 1920, charged Dr. Glover with unprofessional conduct in trying to commercialize his discovery. Prior to that time the Toronto Academy of Medicine had made an adverse report on his work. Toronto medical men of high standing subsequently explained the situation leading to these charges in such a way as to minimize their significance.

New Camera Pictures Projectiles in Flight

Washington.—The bureau of standards has designed and constructed a new camera which is able to photograph projectiles in flight. It is not possible to take a clear picture of very rapidly moving objects on a stationary film, because in the interval during which the film is exposed the image of the object moves sufficiently to blur the picture. The new camera overcomes this difficulty by causing the film to move approximately the same velocity as does the image of the object. Hence, there is no blurring of the picture.

The bureau explains that to obtain a number of pictures several lenses are placed in a line at right angles to the direction of motion of the film and a focal plane shutter is so arranged that the images from these lenses are allowed to fall on the film in succession. This gives a series of pictures of a stationary object which lie diagonally across the film. However, if the velocity of the image is the same as the velocity of the film, the picture of the moving object will lie across the film perpendicularly to the direction of motion.

Elk Pester Farmers

Wenatchee, Wash.—Elk, said to be adept at scaling fences and making short work of ordinary haystacks, are troublesome to farmers near Okanogan. Organized groups have repeatedly driven the elk herds back into the foothills by firing blank shells over their heads, but with the return of hunger the animals revisit the farm lands.

NEGRO VOTERS RESTIVE.

For half a century it was only necessary for campaigners to talk to the negro voters about Lincoln and emancipation in order to hold them in line for the Republican party, but during the last decade there has been much complaint and indication of a disposition among them toward revolt. This year the signs of possible revolt are more noticeable than ever, but, as no revolt of any account has yet occurred, the Republican leaders still count on the black man as a certain asset. The present dissatisfaction is due not merely to alleged lack of recognition in the matter of offices but to the failure of spokesmen for the negroes to induce the Republican leaders to take an open stand against the Ku Klux Klan. On this subject, at a recent meeting of the Association for the Advancement of Colored People, James Welron Johnson said:

"The situation in Indiana is a case in point. There the Republican nominee for Governor has the open endorsement of the Klan, an indorsement which he has fully accepted. In that State the Republican Senator, James E. Watson, who stands high in administration circles, openly confers and consorts with Klan leaders. It has been left for the Democrats in that State to denounce and disavow the Klan. It is, therefore, the plain duty of all colored voters in Indiana to vote against the Republican candidate for Governor and against every other Republican candidate in that State who is touched with the tar brush of the Ku Klux Klan."

At the same meeting there was another significant sign of a tendency toward independent voting when "prolonged applause" greeted the statement of one of the speakers that, though a Republican, he had voted for Smith when a candidate for Governor of New York and would do so again if he were nominated for president. The bulk of the negro vote may go to the Republican candidate for President this year as usual, but the indications of a possible break in solid "Afro-America" are now more marked than they have ever been.

He Didn't Fit

A new reason for being excused from jury duty was offered recently to a California court. Eleven jurors had been accepted and sworn in. The twelfth man glanced at the already well-filled box where the other jurors were seated and objected that he was fat, and that there was no room for him to sit. The objection was accepted as valid. The fat man was excused and a thin one was sworn in. —Youth's Companion.

To Cut Celluloid

Anyone who has tried to cut sheet celluloid knows that it is not as easy as it looks, says Popular Science Monthly. The best way is to make a deep scratch with a sharp scriber or the like, and part the celluloid by bending it sharply along the scratch. This trick is particularly useful when curved or irreguiar shapes must be cut.

Eagle Always Admired

From the most ancient times the eagle has been universally regarded as the emblem of might and courage. It was associated with Jupiter in Roman mythology and its figure on the standards of certain Roman legions has descended to the national ensigns of the United States, Germany and Russia. The eagle was adopted by the United States in 1783.

Fatalism

Fatalism is the belief that all events are always prearranged and determined by fate, implying either divine will or physical cause as the underlying force. In other words, a fatalist is disposed to accept every event in human life or in nature as preordained and controlled by fate, thus eliminating freedom of will.

The Sixth Sense

At a primary-school examination one of the questions was with regard to the five senses. A pupil wrote: "The five senses are sneezing, sobbing, crying, yawning, coughing. By the sixth sense is meant an extra one which some folks have. This is snoring."—Boston Transcript.

The Old Hundredth

The Psalm tune, the "Old Hundredth," first appeared in the Genevian psalter for the one hundred and thirty-fourth psalm. In England it was set to the one hundredth psalm. In the new version of 1650 it was called the "Old Hundredth."

Old Frames Made New

If picture or mirror frames become so damaged as to necessitate their being discarded, try glueing to the old frames ribbon or silk that harmonizes with the color scheme of the room. Brocaded metallic ribbon is the most effective.

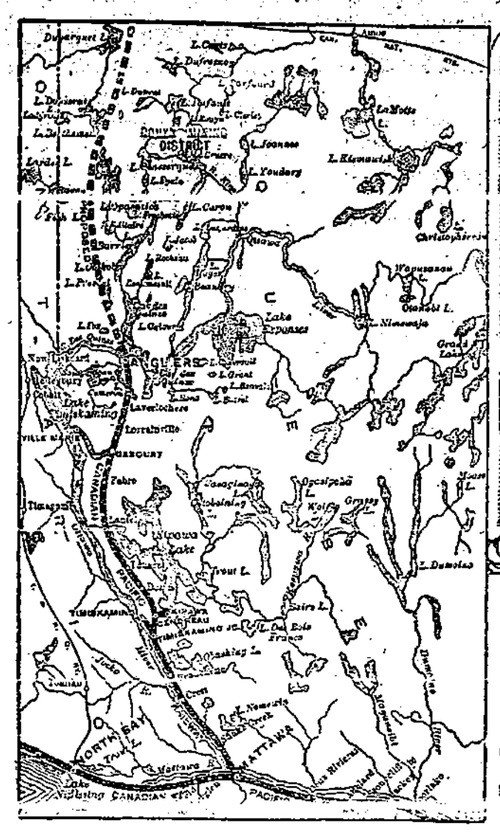
All Aboard! Aeroplanes Ready for Quebec's New Gold Field



FLYING BOAT ON LAC DES QUINZE AT ANGLIERS

ROUTE TO ROUYN GOLD FIELD BY RAIL AND AIR

Fashions do change! When gold was discovered in California, it took long weeks for word to trickle through to the east by pony express riders. The news of gold in the Klondyke had to be transmitted by mail boat and telegraph in the 90's. Today, news of the latest gold fields to be discovered, those of the Rouyn district in northwestern Quebec, is wirelessed and radioed to all corners of the world.

The forty-niners made use of burro, prairie schooner and "shank's mare" to reach their El dorado, many of them remaining as bleached bones along the trail. The tale of Klondyke's mad rush—the crowded steamers, the mushroom-like growth of frontier towns through which the gold-mad rabble hurried on to the mining fields and the indescribable sufferings of man and beast enroute—is still vivid in the minds of many. Today sees a new style in gold-rushes and the miners, prospectors, newspapermen and others whose interests center in Quebec's newly discovered gold fields, travel by rail, motor launch and airplanes.

And where is this new Golconda that draws the interest of the world by the promise of its gold? Get out your map of Canada. There, a 12-hours' ride from New York City, is the Canadian metropolis, Montreal, headquarters of the Canadian Pacific Railway, the first to cooperate with an airplane service on a regular schedule. Here the argonaut boards one of its westbound trains for the 315-mile run to Mattawa where a change is made to a north-bound train that carries travelers to Angliers, the end of steel, 115 miles away on Lac des Quinze. There the latest models of flying boats wait to waft passengers and their baggage to the desired land. The first lap of the flight is eastward down Lac des Quinze to Lake Expanse, crossing it to the Ottawa River whose course becomes the route for 15 miles to one of its many tributaries and along that to Lake Fortune, very aptly named, and into Rouyn. This is a twice-a-week service. An optional route is through Toronto via Sudbury to Mattawa.

The air-craft used are of the latest development, one being an H.S.2L of 330 h.p. and the other a Vickers' "Viking" of 450 h.p. Napier Lions. The latter is an amphibian and can land on or take off from land or water. Pilots, mechanics and equipment are inspected and licensed by the Dept. of National Defense, Royal Canadian Air Force.

A Banquet That Was Almost a Tragedy

"Three years ago at a banquet I was stricken with acute indigestion. Two doctors worked over me for an hour before I came to. I had had severe colic attacks before, but nothing like that. No doctors or medicines gave me permanent help until a friend, who was at the banquet, advised me to take a course of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, which I did with wonderful results." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflamation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. At all druggists.

"Theistic Scientist"

A "theistic scientist" would, by definition, be a scientist who is a theist, or believer in God, a god or gods. What his particular form of belief might be depends upon his individuality. Perhaps no two people in the world hold exactly the same religious beliefs, though they may subscribe to the same creeds.

Meaning of "Cuba"

The meaning of the word "Cuba" is unknown. The island was known by that name among the natives when it was discovered in 1492 by Columbus. Several attempts were made by Columbus to have the island named after various members of the Spanish royal family, but they all failed.

Where Women Propose

It is the women who do the proposing in Dahomey. When a girl reaches the age of eighteen she is eligible for matrimony, and she at once sets out to find some one willing to marry her. Frequently she takes a husband on trial for a month or two before choosing him for better or worse.

They will make their home in Dunkirk, New York. The bride is wellknown throughout the valley, having resided in Monessen for a number of years and is a graduate of the Monessen High School. She also graduated from Carnegie Tech and for the past few years has taught art in the schools of Donora and Philadelphia.

MARTIAL LAW IN A DISTRICT OF BULGARIA

Athens, July 11—Martial law has been declared throughout the Burgas district of Bulgaria, following a revolutionary uprising in which the rebels killed the prefect and other officials and many of their number were shot down in clashes with government troops.

Sofia dispatches state that sporadic uprisings on the part of agrarians started last week and gradually took the form of a revolution throughout the district along the Black sea.

Troops loyal to the present regime made more than 700 arrests at Varna and elsewhere.

Much of the fighting between the agrarians, communists, republicans and government forces appears to have been of a rough and tumble variety, but reports of numerous casualties indicate the troops were forced to use their arms.

IS YOUR WORK HARD?

Many Charleroi Folks Have Found How to Make Work Easier.

What is so hard as a day's work with an aching back?

Or sharp stabs of pain at every sudden twist or turn?

There is no peace from that dull ache.

No rest from the soreness, lameness and weakness.

Many folks have found relief through Doan's Pills. They are a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys.

Charleroi people recommend Doan's.

George Salyers, miner, 134 McKain Ave., says: "Hard work and heavy lifting weakened my kidneys. They acted too frequently and I was obliged to get up several times during the night. This also caused me trouble during the day. Doan's Pills from Carroll's Drug Store put my kidneys in good condition and cured me of the complaint. I have had no kidney trouble since."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Pills — the same that Mr Salyers had. Foster-Milburn Co. Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

Horrible Example.

[illegible] always enjoyed the ferry trip better when her friend's seven-year-old nephew sat at her side. One day while mother marketed one day the child saw a dwarf, a man whose body was perfectly developed, but placed on disproportionately short legs that gave him the stature of a young child. The boy observed him solemnly for a minute and then said: "Gracious, how many cigarettes he must have smoked when he was a little boy."—Chicago Journal.

New Type of Coiffure May Bring Peace In the Battle of Bobbed and Unbobbed

By YVONNE LEBLANC.

Slavery was a red-hot problem. So was Free Silver. And woman suffrage, and prohibition. And now comes bobbing!

"Horse and buggy!" the bobbed flapper hurls at her unshorn sister. And the latter retorts with the terse but poignant epithet, "Synthetic Sal!" The word "Scofflaw" brought a big cash prize. But like Topsy, the phrases Horse and Buggy and Synthetic Sal "just growed." They are the spears of the battling bobbers and the long-haired antis.

Meantime bobbing is at a sort of standstill. That is, high tide has been reached. The next six months may see the passing of the fad or, on the contrary, its permanent entrenchment in the field of fashion. One problem has been definitely solved, however. The bobber is learning neatness and style of coiffure. A new and ingenious use for the Gainsborough hair net has been designed by leading world hairdressers. It makes a bewitching new coiffure for both the bobbed and the unbobbed. This style of hair-dress is stunning and tidy. It is the chic, slightly-clinging silhouette effect required by the new fashion. It is particularly helpful when hot weather disturbs the coiffure. The filmy invisible net prevents the mars or marcel, reducing hairdressing bills, and when used on the unbobbed hair gives the striking bobbed effect. Sevillat, the famous Paris hair-dresser, has prepared a series of Gainsborough charts showing precisely what bob best suits your particular type of face. These free charts, at drugstores catering to beauty needs, are solving the bobbing problems of both "Horse and Buggy" and "Synthetic Sal."

It Cost Doctor Money to Cure This Patient

This story is told of Dr. Henry Drury Hatfield, former governor of West Virginia, when as a mountain doctor he rode 20 miles deep into the mountains one stormy winter night and saved a mountaineer's wife from pneumonia.

"How much do I owe you?" asked the grateful mountaineer.

The doctor, knowing the family's poverty, jokingly replied: "Oh, just whatever you can pay."

"All right," replied the mountaineer, "the only thing I have is that old cow out there, but she's yours, and I'll bring her in next week."

Hatfield was astonished a few days later to see the mountaineer walking up the road leading the cow.

"Hello, doc; here's that cow I said I'd give you." He handed the rope to Hatfield and started away.

"Hold on!" shouted Hatfield. "Did you walk all the way from the mountains with that cow?"

"Sure," was the reply.

"Well," replied Hatfield, fishing into his pockets, "here's $5. Drive her back home again."

Chances Are

Adolphus Annum, clerk, was always late at the office. He usually managed to smooth over the boss in a most extraordinary manner, which was the admiration of his fellow workers.

Things reached the limit, however, when one morning Adolphus rolled in ten minutes past eleven.

"What do you mean by coming in at this hour?" asked the boss, sternly.

"I'm sorry, sir," was the reply. "But my wife presented me with a son last night."

"H'm! Did she?" asked the boss. "It's a pity she didn't present you with an alarm clock."

"I've an idea she has done so, sir," was the retort.

John Quincy Adams

The distinguished characteristics of the life of John Quincy Adams were beneficent labor and personal contentment. He never sought wealth, but devoted himself to the service of mankind. Yet by the practice of frugality and method he secured the enjoyment of dealing forth continually no stinted charities and died in affluence. He never solicited a place or preferment and had no partisan combinations or connections; yet he received honors which eluded the covetous grasp of those who formed parties and filled a longer period of varied and distinguished service than ever fell to the lot of any other citizen.—William Henry Seward.

Ancient People

The Boeotians were the inhabitants of a division of ancient Greece, having Thebes for its capital. The Athenians regarded the Boeotians with contempt, as lacking appreciation for the culture and refinement of Attica. The Boeotians were devoted to agriculture and pastoral pursuits, and in the opinion of the Athenians were as thick and dull as their own atmosphere. Nevertheless, Boeotia produced Hesiod, Pindar, Plutarch, Epaminondas and Pelopidas. In the days of Epaminondas Thebes was the leading city of Greece.—Kansas City Star.

Roman Arithmetic

The Romans had no symbols to indicate mathematical processes and operations. Originally they expressed every word and operation in words of full length. Their mathematical calculations were never simplified further than to abbreviate centum, 100, into C; mille, 1000, into M and so on. Figuring in the days of Caesar was clumsy business. Practically all calculations were performed on the abacus, an apparatus resembling the Chinese swan-pan or the bead-and-frame affairs now used in kindergarten work.

Got Bullet in Chest but Saved His Friend

A duel was fought in a forest on the outskirts of Berlin recently between two men more than forty years old who had been lifelong friends, according to a Berlin letter in the Continental edition of the London Mail.

They are both bachelors, but one, a merry squire, fell in love with a pretty girl of twenty-one and was determined to marry her. The other, a wealthy business man, was certain the pretty girl would make his friend unhappy. He noticed, for instance, that when the three of them were in restaurants the pretty girl returned the admiring glances of young men at other tables.

Love is blind and the squire saw nothing of this. His friend, not understanding the danger of interfering in other people's love affairs, hit on a plan to save him. He sent the pretty girl a love letter inviting her to meet him and signed it with a fictitious name. Two love letters had no effect, but the third brought that naughty girl to the rendezvous, and he was there to see her arrive. He went home chuckling and told her how he had tricked her and warned her to leave his friend alone.

But she, with that touch of genius which deceives mere men every time, went straight off to her squire with tears in her eyes and the letters in her hand.

The result was the duel and a bullet in the chest of the kind but blundering friend. The story has, however, a highly moral ending. Overcome with grief at the sight of his friend bleeding on the ground, the squire agreed to have nothing more to do with the pretty girl.

Obedience to Orders Brought Due Reward

This story, told me by William C. McCloy, who for many years was city editor and then managing editor of Charles A. Dana's evening newspaper, is not printed here to encourage insubordination in journalistic local staffs, writes Girard in the Philadelphia Inquirer.

But it concerns a Philadelphian who was first a reporter here and then went to Mr. Dana's paper and afterward graduated into a novelist and playwright, Richard Harding Davis.

McCloy sent Davis to report an important football game. Soon after the whistle blew, Arthur Brisbane, then the managing editor, went to Davis and asked him for his side-line badge. Brisbane had a friend who was anxious to get a closeup of the players.

"No, Mr. Brisbane," said Davis, "my city editor sent me here to report this game, and before it is over something might happen when I should need this badge."

Brisbane urged that he would take the blame, but "Dick" insisted that he was the fellow assigned to the job and must stick to his badge.

Next day Brisbane went to McCloy and told him how one of his reporters had defied a request of the managing editor.

"A fellow like that," said the mighty Arthur, "should have his salary raised, and I ask you to see that it is done immediately."

Perspiration

Perspiration may cause trouble and discomfort now and then, but if you did not perspire you would die. For reaching up through the various layers of the skin to the surface are enough sweat glands, if placed end to end, to cover a distance of 80 miles. Through these glands is continually passing off all the liquid waste of the body which is not passed off by the kidneys. If the air is cool and dry enough to allow easy evaporation, no discomfort is caused. In hot weather the sweat stands in beads on the skin and has to be wiped off. We drink more water in hot weather and sweat a little more because there is more moisture to dispose of, but even in the middle of winter perspiration is going on all over our bodies almost as actively as in mid-summer. The only difference is that it evaporates easily in cold weather and we don't notice it.

May Be Hard Task to Teach Parrot to Talk

Parrots can be more obstinate than mules, but if you are a determined instructor and not easily discouraged excellent results will follow.

Remember that the best talker is not the one with the gayest plumage but the gray parrot found principally on the west coast of Africa.

He will, in the first three or four days, begin to make confused and indistinct efforts to copy your remark. Whenever he does this reward him with a taste of his favorite delicacy, as this will induce further efforts.

In a few weeks the parrot should be able to exclaim "good day" or repeat any remark you have taught him whenever he sees any one enter or leave.

Other appropriate phrases can be taught in the same manner, such as the useful remark, "Time to be going," by uttering the phrase as you look at your watch. It is always wise to teach each sentence separately, never starting a new one until the previous one has been mastered.

In three or four months your parrot should be a speaker of some pretensions. If, however, at the end of this time he has shown no sign of profiting by your lessons be assured he never will. The most to expect is that he may one day make a good whistler.

Primitive Spoons

The origin of the spoon was very likely a shell fitted to a wooden or bone handle. Caddy spoons, which were only used after the custom of tea-drinking was well established, were nearly all with shell-shaped bowls, and were very small at first, to fit into the small caddy boxes and the small china cups, for tea was scarce and used in small quantities. Tea-drinking was not done on a large scale in England until the days of George II.

Woman

If a man is in grief, who cheers him? In trouble, who consoles him? In wrath, who soothes him? In joy, who makes him doubly happy? In prosperity, who rejoices? In disgrace, who backs him against the world, and dresses with gentle unguents and warm poultices the rankling wounds made by the slings and arrows of outrageous fortune? Who, but woman, if you please.—William Makepeace Thackeray.

Protecting Currency

The sheets of paper on which bills are printed are delivered daily by the loans and currency division of the secretary of the treasury's office to the bureau, upon requisition. From the time the blank sheets are delivered by careful count until 30 days later when the bills are sent to the treasury to have the seal printed thereon, the bureau must account for every sheet in its hands.

The Contrary

He was an argumentative local attorney, and was crushing an opponent's case. "Gentlemen," he said, "you may say, with Lawyer Smith, that this is a case of six of one and half a dozen of the other. But I say, No"—pause for emphasis—"No; it is nothing of the sort. It is exactly the contrary."

English Designs on Playing Card Faces

While we are indebted to the French for the modern suits and colors of our playing cards, the designs of the face cards are English. The French changed the portraits in their decks from time to time to honor first one, then another royal family, and always printed the name of the monarch also made changes, but eventually settled on King Henry VIII, and Elizabeth of York, his mother and the wife of Henry VII, says the Detroit News.

It is interesting to note that the queen, whose marriage terminated the War of the Roses, still holds the rose of York in her hand. The knave, or fool, now called the jack, was the court jester, whose chief duty it was to amuse the king. He still wears the jester's costume, though the modern custom of cutting the bodies of the court figures in half has eliminated the most distinguishing characteristics of his dress.

The word "ace" probably is Latin, meaning origin, course, beginning, first. Deuce and trey are doubtless derived from the Spanish dos and tres, meaning second and third.

"Of First Water"

This means that the diamond has the highest degree of purity and fineness. When we say a diamond or other precious stone is of the first water it denotes that the gem is free from all traces of color, blemish, flaw or other imperfection, and that its brilliancy is perfect.

"Aladdin's Window"

Ancient Inventor

One of the earliest known writers on mechanics was Hero of Alexandria. He invented Hero's fountain, in which the jet of water was kept up by compressed air. Fragments of his writings on mechanics are extant.

Stains on Floors

Ink stains, if fresh, will come out if washed with milk and water, but when long standing oxalic acid and water must be rubbed into the stain. The proportion is one teaspoonful of acid to half a teacupful of water.

Thrift and Credit

Ask any banker, any merchant, and he will tell you that a thrifty man is a good moral hazard. He is a thinking man, one who will meet his obligations promptly, hence a good credit risk.

A Use for Them

"Cold an' hunger," said Uncle Eben, "was put in de world to remind people dat day's expected to do sumpin' in dis life besides sit around an' argue."—Washington Star.

Nature Despises Sham

Nature forever puts a premium on reality. What is done for effect is seen to be done for effect; what is done for love is felt to be done for love.—Emerson.

ALBANY PREPARES TO WELCOME GOVERNOR SMITH

Albany, N. Y., July 11.— Albany is preparing to give Gov. Smith a "welcome home" demonstration that will surpass anything of the kind the state capital has ever known, when he comes back from New York City and the Democratic National convention. While the demonstration has been directed by local Democrats, it will be non-partisan and everyone in the city is invited to participate.

There will be a big parade, with all the bands that can be obtained in this vicinity, to escort Smith from Union station to the executive mansion. If he arrives at night there will be an old-fashioned torch-light procession.

It was announced unofficially today that Smith will not arrive here before Sunday, having several important engagements and other matters to take care of in New York City before returning.

GOMPERS REPORTED AS IMPROVED

New York, July 11.—Samuel Gompers, veteran president of the American Federation of Labor is considerably improved, it was stated at the Coney Island hotel, where he is recuperating, today.

Gompers held two conferences with labor leaders in his hotel suite yesterday but was cautioned by his physician that he must follow a program of absolute rest if his recuperation is to continue.

The labor leader is attended by a physician and a nurse constantly. He went to Coney Island from a New York hospital Tuesday.

"Mr. Gompers retired at 9 p. m., and enjoyed a good night's sleep," his nurse said today. "He is considerably improved."

21 HURT IN A GOTHAM COLLISION

New York, July 11.—Twenty-one persons were injured so severely they had to be taken to hospitals and 40 badly shaken when a Fifth Avenue bus collided with an automobile on Riverside Drive early today and overturned.

Polie held Dr. William B. Giles, driver of the automobile, who is alleged to have turned in front of the speeding bus, causing the accident.

None of the injured is expected to die.

WARSHIP MAY OPERATE AGAINST THE REBELS

Buenos Aires, July 11—The Brazilian warship, Almirante Barrosa, which has been in Buenos Aires with official representatives to the Argentine independence celebrations, departed hastily last night following radio orders from Rio De Janeiro. It is presumed the vessel will join the Brazilian naval units in Santos, operating against the San Paulo rebels.

Sees Earth a Desert Were Birds to Perish

While man fondly imagines himself lord of the world in which he lives he is actually nothing of the sort. The true masters of this planet are the insects, and while man can easily hold his own against the beasts he is helpless against the insects. Helpless, that is, without the help of the birds. Few have the faintest notion of the might of the insect world, which far exceeds in number of species, in voracity and in power of multiplication all other living things. More than three hundred thousand different sorts of insects have been classified, and there are tens of thousands still to be described.

Were insects left to work their will and multiply unchecked, it would be merely a matter of two or at the outside three years before all crops and all green things would be destroyed. The earth would be a desert.

Farmers and gardeners are constantly at war with birds because some species eat considerable quantities of grain and fruit. It is, however, essential to remember the fact that the food of birds consists mainly of insects and that the bird is the one force which swings the balance of Nature against the insect hordes.—T. C. Bridges in the Continental Edition of the London Mail.

Odd Fishing Ground

Amphioxus is a little creature that lives in the sea, and also in laboratories where he serves as a specimen to students of zoology. He is something like a fish and something like a worm, and is about two inches long. The Chinese eat him. This taste on their part has caused the development of one of the most extraordinary fishing grounds in the sea, located in the narrow strait between the mainland and the island of Amoy. In this limited area 200 fishing boats are employed daily from August to April in the dredging up of amphioxi which inhabit the bottom of the strait in enormous numbers. The average daily catch of the fleet is more than 300 tons. It has been calculated that this represents 6,500,000 individuals, and that the average annual catch amounts to 1,000,000,000 amphioxi. Since most of them are not caught, the numbers of these tiny creatures on this stretch of the sea bottom may be better imagined than calculated.

WORLD FLIGHT EFFORT PROCEEDING QUITE SMOOTHLY

Constantinople, July 11.—The American world flight effort is proceeding swiftly and smoothly, step by step, without a hitch and Lieutenants Smith, Nelson and Wade will be in Europe on their next hop.

The United States airmen arrived here from Aleppo yesterday after a nine-hour flight. They are resting at the American embassy and tomorrow will hop over to the Balkans, making a landing at Bucharest.

Lieut. Lowell Smith, the flight commander said he and his comrades were thrilled by the lands over which they have just flown, especially the silver ribbon of the Bosphorus. He reported that he and Lieutenants Wade and Nelson are in good physical condition again.

NEW SCHOOL IS NEARING COMPLETION

next week placing them. With the opening of the new building the overcrowding of the schools which has existed for the last few years will be relieved and the rooms in the basements of the Lincoln and Waverly buildings and at the First National Bank Hall will be discontinued. Bids are now being asked for the grading and resurfacing of the school grounds. When this is completed and the walks laid, the terraces graded, and shrubbery planted the new building will present an imposing and beautiful appearance, located on one of the most perfect sites in the Monongahela Valley. Harry J. Ashcraft has been awarded the contract and now has a large force of men at work completing grading of the athletic grounds adjoining the school property. As soon as this is completed a grandstand will be erected and the field enclosed. Steel bleachers will be secured. The work on the field will be rushed so that it will be ready for practice and the regular fall football games.

SITUATION UNDER CONTROL SAYS THE GOVERNMENT

Rio De Janeiro, July 10.—(Delayed)—"The government has complete control of the situation," a brief communique on the revolt in Sac Paulo said tonight.

It was indicated, however, that the remaining rebel strongholds have not yet been reduced although they are surrounded by loyal forces.

A number of prisoners arrived here today from Santos.

Apparently the rebels are in two groups in the Luz military barracks near the big Luz railway station and the Santa Ina barracks about five miles away.

A rigid censorship continues and any estimate of the total dead and wounded is possible. It is probable figures never will be given out.

Claims to Have Seen Owls Flying in Flock

It is common knowledge that tawny, barn, and long-eared owls have increased considerably in numbers in East Lothian in recent years, and there is no doubt that they are today far more numerous than most people have any idea.

Motoring recently after the fall of darkness along a byroad between Macmerry and Pencaitland, writes H. M. B. in the Edinburgh Scotsman, I drew the attention of my passenger to an owl flying overhead, and at the same time I slackened speed so that we might obtain a better view of the bird. We then noticed a second owl, and almost immediately a third and a fourth, flying over the field on our right; indeed, it seemed that there was a whole flock of them, as we counted as many as six clearly visible against the sky at the same time. At first I thought that they must be pee-wits, which often besport themselves thus after darkness, but as the birds crossed the rays of the head lamps there was no doubting that they were owls—tawny or barn, I think the latter. Certainly they were not long-eared owls.

Long-eared owls are, to some extent, gregarious and sociable by disposition—that is, a number of them may foregather irrespective of food or mating attractions. Such meetings are purely social, and in the case of the long-eared owl they may occur at any season, day or night; but I have never heard of a purely social gathering of brown or barn owls.

Laws of Divorce

In Australia divorces have never been sanctioned, and they are scarcely ever heard of in modern Greece. In Tibet they are not allowed except by consent of both parties, and then remarriage is forbidden. On the other hand, in Cochin China, the parties desiring a divorce break a pair of chopsticks in the presence of witnesses, and the thing is done.
